

Safe Driving on Forest Roads live online one-hour workshop for snowmobile club members and volunteers

Free to snowmobile club members and volunteers - a one-hour live online workshop on how to safely drive on forest roads - share with friends and family!

Forest access roads are considered highways under the Highway Traffic Act and all the regular highway rules apply. Safe Driving on Forest Roads recreation workshop hosted online with a live instructor will help you learn how to drive on these roads safely.

During the 2016-17 season, the Ontario Ministry of Transportation Annual Report states 26 drivers and two passengers were killed in snowmobile collisions, and almost 200 people - drivers, passengers, and pedestrians, were injured.

During this a one-hour workshop, you will learn about how to safely navigate the hazards of driving recreational or personal vehicles on forest roads.

The workshop covers tips for all aspects of driving safely on forestry roads - including the right personal protective equipment, a circle check to make sure your ride is ready to roll, safe driving practices, and how to load and unload a snowmobile from your truck or trailer.
