Health and Safety Specialist

Permanent Full-Time, (37.5 hours/week); Bargaining Unit
Salary Range: $86,129 – $108,294 (annual)
Location: Northwest Region

You are a driven health and safety professional with a desire to make a difference. As part of a high-performing team, you will assist clients along their Occupational Health and Safety journey and help them meet their responsibilities by evaluating the quality of their programs and systems. You will help a variety of workplaces by providing efficient and outcome-oriented consultations as well as developing clear and concise action plans. In addition to delivering high-impact training, facilitating meetings and delivering consulting services, you will also assist with developing health and safety solutions as a subject matter expert.

You possess sound knowledge of adult education principles, have strong project management skills, risk assessment, program/system auditing experience, as well as a proven ability to provide coaching and facilitation as it relates to program planning, implementation, and evaluation. Your expertise and experience will allow you to deliver health and safety training and consulting services including but not limited to Health and Safety Management System Auditing, Competent Supervisor, Mining Supervisor Common Core, Forestry Common Core, supporting the Health and Safety Excellence Program, Mining Train-the-Trainer, and CPO programs such as Working at Heights and Joint Health and Safety Committee Certification (Part 1 and various Part 2 modules).

As a natural leader, you are able to efficiently analyze complex situations, determine when additional technical support is required, develop clear recommendations, and write professional reports. Your ability to develop work plans and schedules, set and meet goals, and work with minimal supervision is complemented by your ability to tackle projects alone where required, as well as excel in a team atmosphere. You understand the importance of developing client relationships and following established processes, including ensuring accurate information is reported in a timely manner.

You have obtained a post-secondary education or equivalent combination of training/education, complemented with seven years (7) of health and safety experience in the mining sector. You possess intermediate computer skills, a valid driver's licence and access to a vehicle. A Canadian Registered Safety Professional (CRSP) designation or the ability to attain is required.

This position provides a challenging career with an attractive benefits package and salary based on qualifications. To apply for this position, please forward your written application by 4:00 p.m. on Friday, August 26, 2022 to:
