

Attention: Drivers who use forest roads Your input needed for new safety training course

Ontario forest access roads are a different kind of road and Workplace Safety North is revising its safety training for these roads.

If you live, work, or play in the forest, your input is needed. Understanding the risks and knowing best practices is key to safe driving on these remote and rugged roads.

Preliminary course outline

- Unique physical nature of forest roads
- General safety principles on these roads
- How to prepare a vehicle and a driver for travelling on them
- Defensive driving techniques for all seasons

This training will be available in the classroom and online.

What type of driver are you?

- Commercial and personal vehicles
- Haul truck operators
- ATV drivers
- Snowmobilers
- Passenger vehicles
- Recreational vehicles

How you can help

- Send photos and videos
- Send in your stories about incidents and near-misses
- Send ideas to help reinforce the training

Project Advisory Committee

Chris Serratore, Workplace Safety North
 Damon Hibbard, Andrew Hawkins, Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry
 Dianne Loewen, Holly Aggas, Domtar Inc.
 Gino Scichilone, Resolute Forest Products
 John Burak, First Resource Management Group
 Mike Maxfield, Central Canada SFI Implementation Committee
 Scott Russell, HME Enterprises

Send material and suggestions by May 1 to chrisserratore@workplacesafetynorth.ca.

Thank you and drive safe!

705 474 7233
 1 888 730 7821 (Toll free Ontario)
workplacesafetynorth.ca

